Country Director: Zimbabwe

Turning Commitment into Measurable Impact

Welcome to our first quarterly newsletter of 2026.

This quarter reflects our continued commitment to expanding access to quality education while strengthening sustainable, community-driven solutions across our partner schools. Through scholarships, infrastructure development, and income-generating initiatives, we are seeing encouraging progress in both learning environments and community empowerment.

We remain grateful to our partners, donors, and communities whose support makes this work possible, and we look forward to building on this momentum in the months ahead.

About TTI Foundation

01. TTI Vision and Goal

Our Vision

We envision empowered rural communities where all children have access to quality education, regardless of gender or socio-economic background.

Our Goal

To lead the development of an improved education system supported by sustainable, community-driven business models that strengthen local economies and livelihoods.

02. What We Do

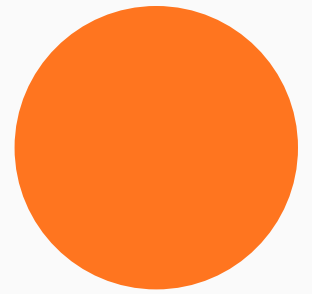

Through solar energy, irrigation systems, and regenerative business coaching, TTI supports rural schools to become community hubs and self-sustaining innovation centres that do not rely on donor aid.

Income generated from school-based projects—particularly irrigation gardens—has funded:

- 1 Construction and renovation of classrooms
- 2 Development of science laboratories and libraries
- 3 Procurement of essential learning materials

03. Our Purpose

Our purpose is to empower rural communities—especially girls and women—through education, sustainable development, and opportunities that create lasting, generational change. We exist to break cycles of poverty, strengthen schools, and support community-driven solutions that uplift families and unlock human potential.

Executive Summary

This quarter highlights significant progress in advancing education, improving school infrastructure, and strengthening sustainable income-generating initiatives across partner schools.

Through scholarships, solar powered irrigation projects, and strategic partnerships, schools are increasingly able to:

- 1 Improve infrastructure independently
- 2 Expand access to quality education
- 3 Strengthen long-term sustainability

Beneficiary Story (A story worth telling)

Learnmore Murandu

Learnmore's journey reflects the transformative impact of access to education. After falling pregnant at 18 (with no educational certification) and facing severe socio-economic challenges, her future appeared uncertain. Through TTI's intervention, she returned to school and completed her Advanced Level education.

Today, she is pursuing a Bachelor's Degree in Peace and Governance at Bindura University. "TTI believed in me when I had almost lost hope. Because of their support, I am now pursuing my dream at university and building a better future for my child and myself."

Her story is a powerful example of resilience, second chances, and the long-term impact of educational support.

Quarterly Highlights

- 1 37 students supported through scholarships
- 2 6 new scholarship beneficiaries
- 3 3 classroom blocks nearing completion
- 4 1 classroom block renovated
- 5 1 science laboratory completed
- 6 1 library nearing completion
- 7 1 computer lab nearing completion
- 8 1,000 students supported with stationery

Conclusion

This quarter reflects the growing success of TTI's integrated model of education support and sustainable development.

Schools are increasingly:

- Financing their own infrastructure
- Improving learning environments
- Building long-term resilience

TTI remains committed to strengthening partnerships and expanding opportunities for rural learners across Zimbabwe.
